

The Essential Guide to a Batty Halloween

(c) Daniel Hargreaves/www.bats.org.uk

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

Welcome!

01 Happy Halloween!

This Halloween, we're taking the chance to celebrate bats as the amazing creatures they are! We hope that you will join us at BCT in, spreading positive awareness and fundraising to help protect bats and their habitats. Together, we can protect bats and keep them flying in the night sky for us and future generations to enjoy.

Despite bat activity being low at this time of year, we suddenly begin see bats everywhere - in our shops, pubs and even our homes. Find out why bats are more than a Halloween decoration in this Special Edition BCT Halloween pack. In this pack, you'll find exciting fundraising ideas for your Halloween celebrations, in addition to fascinating batty facts, myth busters and even more ways to get involved and help.

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

02 Bats & Halloween

Bats have long been associated with Halloween, but why is this? There are many different reasons why bats have become a Halloween symbol. Part of this is because bats are nocturnal, which means they are most active during night time and so this has led to some myths associating bats with death. However, bats have actually adapted to be nocturnal, partly because this helps them avoid predators.

(c) Hugh Clark/www.bats.org.uk

Sometimes bats are also associated with vampires on Halloween. This has meant that over Halloween in particular, bats are portrayed as terrifying blood-sucking fiends. However, as you'll find out later in this pack, all bat species in the UK feed only on insects, not blood! There are only three species of vampire bat in the world and these are found in South and Central America. Despite this misconception of bats, they're actually very gentle, intelligent and captivating creatures!

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

03 Why fundraise for bats?

Bats are misunderstood!

Bats are unique and fascinating animals. However, they often suffer from bad press because of the many myths and much false media surrounding them. On pages 5 and 6, you can learn about some of the myths often spread about bats and the real truth!

We need bats!

Bats are an indicator species, meaning that they tell us a lot about the health of our environment. Decreasing bat populations is a warning sign of wider problems within nature. These amazing creatures are also important pollinators and pest controllers (because UK bats feed on insects).

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

04 Why fundraise for bats?

Bats are facing many threats

Bat populations have experienced severe declines historically due to loss of roosting sites, and lack of feeding grounds and flight paths caused by the destruction of their natural habitat. This is a direct result of human development; as we've increased the area we take up for our homes, shops, offices and roads, we have reduced the area available for bats to live.

Six species of bat in the UK remain endangered but it is encouraging that some populations appear to be stable or increasing following significant historic declines.

However, our work is far from over and bats more help now than ever. Bats are often portrayed as scary animals, particularly around Halloween, and recently they have been wrongly blamed for the COVID-19 pandemic.

We are doing everything we can to secure the funds we need to make sure that we continue to be here to provide a national voice for bat conservation. We hope you can join us in our efforts.

05 MYTH BUSTERS!

MYTH!

"Bats drink blood"

All of the 18 species of bat we have in the UK feed solely on insects, not blood.

There are over 1300 bat species in the world at only three of these are Vampire bats.

Vampire bats live in Central and South America (not Transylvanian!). They feed on livestock, horses and birds by making a small nick on the skin and lapping up a few drops of blood, the animal barely notices and no sucking is involved

(c) Daniel Hargreaves/www.bats.org.uk

MYTH!

"Bats are blind"

No, bats aren't blind (and so, they won't fly into your hair!), but at night their ears are more important than their eyes. As they fly they, make shouting sounds. The returning echoes give the bats information about anything that is ahead of them, including the size and shape of an insect and which way it is going. This system of finding prey is called echolocation - locating things by their echoes. This is just one of the things that makes bats amazing and unique animals!

06 MYTH BUSTERS!

MYTH!

"Bats have lots of babies"

In the UK, female bats usually only have 1 baby (called a pup) each year. Pregnant females gather in maternity roosts to have their young. They will keep their pup very close to them and nurture them!

(c) Simon Pidgeon/www.bats.org.uk

MYTH!

"Bats come out on Halloween"

Despite being associated with Halloween, bats are more likely to be hibernating at this time! Bats in the UK seek suitable hibernation sites and begin periods of torpor (deep sleep) in October.

07 Batty Celebration Ideas

This Halloween is unlike any other. With social distancing measures still in place and many of us not being able to see friends and family, you may be wondering how you will celebrate Halloween. We've put together some exciting ideas so you can safely celebrate bats and Halloween from the comfort of your own home!

Pumpkin carving challenge!

Get your family and friends involved and challenge them to a batty pumpkin carving competition.

You could even have a Zoom ceremony to present your finished bat-themed pumpkins and crown a winner!

To help raise funds for bats at the same time, you could suggest a donation for entry or award the winner with a prize from one of our generous collaborators

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

08 Batty Celebration Ideas

Batty Zoom party

Host a batty Zoom fancy dress party to safely celebrate with your friends and family!

Your party could consist of a batty pub quiz, or even a Halloween-themed cocktail (or mocktail) making session. Visit our page here to see some fun bat facts you could use in your pub quiz!

Try something different and host a batty Halloween-themed scavenger hunt on Zoom! Challenge your friends and family to find bat-related items (like food items that bats help to produce!) in their homes within a set time and the quickest wins!

These are all great ways to also raise funds for bat conservation whilst celebrating - you could suggest a donation to BCT for party entry and award a scavenger hunt prize that you've purchased from one of our collaborators!

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

09 #BatBake

A great way to celebrate this Halloween is by joining in with BCT's great British #BatBake. Get involved and be creative whilst learning about all the amazing things bats do for us!

How do I get involved?

Taking part in #BatBake is easy! You can find loads of fun and tasty recipes on our #BatBakes information page here. Each of these recipes has ingredients for which bats have play and important role in their production. So, just choose your favourite recipe and get baking!

Make sure you share your bakes with us by uploading photos of your creations to social media and tagging us (@batconservationtrust on Facebook and Instagram, or @_BCT_ on Twitter) and using the hashtag #BatBakes.

You can find out more about the role bats play in our food production here!

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

10 Gaming for Bats

A great way to help bats this Halloween and have fun at the same time is a charity gaming event!

You could have a streaming marathon, batty fancy dress gaming event or a gaming challenge.

Use Twitch and Livestream Fundraising on JustGiving or Give as you Live to raise money for bats this Halloween!

Thank you to all the players from Evil TV team and Cupcake Fam Charity Streams who are live streaming this Halloween (31st October and 1st November) and raising funds for bats! You can support them, watch their live stream and donate! Click here for streaming times and more information or click here to donate towards Cupcake Fam Charity Streams' marathon!

Happy gaming!

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

Resources

Find out more about bats and fundraising for bat conservation with these links below!

Learn more about bats:

- Types of bats
- Why bats matter
- Fun facts about bats!

(c) Hugh Clark/
www.bats.org.uk

More ways to fundraise for bats:

- Fundraising for bats
- How to donate
- Become a BCT member
- Adopt a Bat

Other useful links:

- Batty activities, crafts and educational resources
- #BatBake
- Useful leaflets & resources

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

And most importantly.....

Have a fun, safe and batty Halloween!

Whatever way you decide to celebrate Halloween this year, we would love to know! Make sure you share your Halloween celebrations with us on Facebook, Instagram or Twitter!

If you have any questions, please do contact us on fundraise@bats.org.uk.

(c) Daniel Hargreaves/www.bats.org.uk

Bat Conservation Trust

www.bats.org.uk

